

Dear father,
I hope you want letters & can send you from 6 to 8 cents per page, clear on 300 letters.

Yours son,
Allen A. Haddock

I hope that you and mother will improve your great opportunity.

I heard W.E. Russell and other prominent, some unheard of speakers, at the Democratic rally last week but the
A. P. A. society as hard as they could. Evidently they thought that they dealt this "secret, despicable organization" some terrible blows.

Geo. Fred Williams made the last speech.

Have just come from church. Despite a terrible storm John Mason and I went to hear J. J. Lansing.
The music and service were good.

5 Allston Place,
Boston, Mass.
Oct 13, 1895.

Dear Father;
Won't you please fill out the place on the enclosed application where your name is designed to be? I am late in getting this application for scholarship in owing to a misunderstanding. So, if you will sign your name at once, if you can do so conscientiously, and then get Mr. Townsend to do likewise, it will hasten matters to my advantage.
Send it back to me Wednesday please.

I enclose receipted assessment. Did your meat arrive all right? How do you like the trade? I went down directly after dinner, having received your letter in the morning.

There are some slips enclosed with names on them of persons whom I was to see in regard to joining the Y.M.C.A.

Those who were spoken to are designated by lines drawn through their names. The others were not seen. Kindly give the slips to Mr. Johnson. It will save me postage.

I went to see Cora but she was not at S. & P's.

She called on me two days later and we made a visit to Uncle Jacob. She is working at 93 Water St. and has a much nicer place.

She advised me to call on her former employer and see whether he could give Foster a place, which I did next day but he had engaged a typewriter, etc. What is Foster's address?

Have met three Milfordians of late; Miss Armstrong, Mr. W.K. Whiting, & Mr. O'Neil formerly of the ~~the~~ Telephone Exchange. Andrew McLaughlin walks over Somerset St. occasionally.

I wish that I were to be present at the 50th anniversary of the Milford M. E. Church. According to the program which I saw in Zion's Herald those who take in all the services will have a rich treat