

THE FACULTY CLUB
MIDDLETOWN, CONNECTICUT

January 17, 1926.

Dear mother:

To carry on the conversation of the phone- The note book has arrived intact and I can once more breath easy. Also the expected letter from Boston. Alden Handy forewarned me of its coming, so that I was able to tell you something concerning the offer over the phone. The particulars are as follows. Hours-1 to 5 every day except Saturday and Sunday. A guarantee of 250 dollars with perhaps more. Date-from July 5 to August 13 inclusive. A little calculation shows that such a position amounts to 41.66 dollars per week, which is not too bad. Bea and I have been in consultation and we have reasoned that it was wise to accept the offer. I have written to say that I probably would, and would send final decision in about a week. Do you know of any reason why I cannot do such a program? Mornings are mine as well as the week end. Ending as it does, it will afford a good chance for the big event and a little trip alone and together as planned.

Have just sent a bunch of Gazettes to Jennie, hoping that they will arrive in time. Be sure that father informs me as to has plans with respect to Middletown. Coming from New York the best route is to take Springfield train to Berlin junction and then across by electric.

This is ^{the} last week before examinations and there is much correction of notebooks and laboratory work. My examinations come agreeably scattered and I will have some time at the end for concentrated research.

Hope that you are enjoying the radio by now. It is certainly too bad not to have an electrician around.

Bea will probably write more concerning the summer soon. I leave that to her to write about. Had a card from the Slades postmarked Washington. They are probably in Florida now.

Let me know when ~~the~~ word arrives concerning the dishes.

My love to you both.

Willie

The laundry has arrived. Many thanks.
